1. Pepsi Research Project

Deadlines: New application cycle every month

Award Amount: Total of $1.125 million for up to 60 grants every application period.

Eligibility: Legal residents of the 50 United States and the District of Columbia, 13 years of age or older, residing in one of the 50 United States or the District of Columbia at the time of submitting an Application. Participants can be individuals, for profit organizations (which have a maximum of $5 million in annual revenue) and non profit organizations (maximum of $15 million in revenue)

The Pepsi Refresh Project is an online grant program which makes available millions of dollars to be granted to projects which are intended to improve communities through an online, democratic voting process. The Grant Program consists of four (4) categories (1) ARTS and MUSIC; (2) COMMUNITIES; (3) EDUCATION; (4) THE PEPSI CHALLENGE

2. NSF Research Experiences for Undergraduates

Deadlines: June 01, 2012, August 22, 2012

Award Amount: Total funding available: $67,700,000 in FY2010. Estimated number of awards: 1,800 to 1,850

Eligibility: Undergraduate student participants, must be citizens or permanent residents of the United States or its possessions.

The Research Experiences for Undergraduates (REU) program supports active research participation by undergraduate students in any of the areas of research funded by the National Science Foundation. REU projects involve students in meaningful ways in ongoing research programs or in research projects specifically designed for the REU program.

3. Fellowships for Transformative Computational Science using CyberInfrastructure

Deadline: January 13, 2012

Award Amount: 6 – 8 anticipated number of awards. Total funding: $2 million

Eligibility:
Must be U.S. citizens, nationals, or legally admitted permanent resident aliens of the United States at the time of application.

Must receive a doctoral degree by the start date of the award, but no more than two years before as of January 1 of the year of the award.

Must select a host institution and sponsoring scientist(s) different from their doctoral degree. Under extraordinary circumstances, applicants may continue at their doctoral institution and/or be sponsored by their doctoral advisor, but must select a research plan that is significantly different from their PhD research.

The overarching goal of the NSF Fellowships for Transformative Computational Science using Cyberinfrastructure (CI TRaCS) program is to support outstanding scientists and engineers who have recently completed doctoral studies and are interested in pursuing postdoctoral activities in computational science, and thereby nurturing the future leaders in this emerging and important multidisciplinary field. Computational research and education activities that are cyberinfrastructure based and cross disciplinary boundaries are a key focus of this program. Successful Fellows may, for example, use cyberinfrastructure to make revolutionary advances in their disciplines, and/or deploy cyberinfrastructure based technologies that enable innovative computational practices.

4. Earth Sciences Postdoctoral Fellowships

Deadlines: July 1, 2012

Award Amount: $85,000 per year per fellowship during fiscal years 2010 to 2011, 10 fellowships per year contingent upon availability of funds.

Eligibility: Applicants must:

Be U.S. citizens (or nationals) or legally admitted permanent residents of the United States at the time of application;

Either currently be a graduate student or, have held a PhD degree in a scientific or engineering field for no more than 3 years prior to the award start date;

Must present research and education plans that fall within the purview of the Division of Earth Sciences at NSF;

Select a host institution and sponsoring scientist different from the doctoral degree and current position (current at the time of application and of award)

Not have submitted concurrently the same project to another NSF program.

The Division of Earth Sciences (EAR) awards Postdoctoral Fellowships to highly qualified investigators within 3 years of obtaining their PhD to carry out an integrated program of independent research and education. The research and education plans of each fellowship must address scientific questions within the scope of EAR disciplines. The program supports researchers for a period of up to 2 years with fellowships that can be taken to the institution or national facility of their choice. The program is intended to recognize beginning investigators of significant potential, and provide them with experience in research and education that will establish them in leadership positions in the Earth Sciences community. Since the fellowships are offered only to postdoctoral scientists early in their career, doctoral advisors are encouraged to discuss the availability of EAR fellowships with their graduate students early in their doctoral programs. Fellowships are awards to individuals, not institutions, and are administered by the Fellows.

5. Kennedy Research Grants

Deadline: March 15, 2012 for spring grants; August 15, 2012 for fall grants

Award Amount: $500 to $2,500

Eligibility: Scholars and students are invited to apply for these research grants.

Each year in the spring and fall, The John F. Kennedy Library Foundation provides funds for the award of a number of research grants in the range of $500 to $2,500. The purpose of these grants is to help defray living, travel, and related costs incurred while doing research in the textual and non textual holdings of the library. Grant applications are evaluated on the basis of expected utilization of available holdings of the Library, the degree to which they address research needs in Kennedy period studies, and the qualifications of applicants. Preference is given to dissertation research by Ph.D. candidates working in newly opened or relatively unused collections, and to the work of recent Ph.D. recipients who are expanding or revising their dissertations for publication, but all proposals are welcome and will receive careful consideration.

6. Physical Anthropology

Deadline: February 9, 2012 for spring; August 16, 2012 for fall

Award Amount: $20,000

The Physical Anthropology Program supports basic research in areas related to human evolution and contemporary human biological variation. Research areas supported by the program include, but are not limited to, human genetic variation, human adaptation, human osteology and bone biology, human and nonhuman primate paleontology, functional anatomy, and primate socioecology. Grants supported in these areas are united by an underlying evolutionary framework, and often a consideration of adaptation as a central theoretical theme. Many proposals also have a biocultural orientation. The program frequently serves as a bridge within NSF between the social and behavioral sciences and the natural and physical sciences, and proposals are commonly jointly reviewed and funded with other
7. Economics

Deadline: January 18, 2012; August 18, 2012

Award Amount: $12,000

This program is designed to improve the quality of dissertation research. These grants provide funds for items not normally available through the student's university. Additionally, these grants allow doctoral students to undertake significant data gathering projects and to conduct field research in settings away from their campus that would not otherwise be possible. The program does not provide cost of living or other stipends or tuition. Outstanding proposals specify how the knowledge to be created advances economics science.

8. Decision, Risk & Management Sciences

Deadline: January 18, 2012; August 18, 2012 for a maximum period of 12 months

Award Amount: $12,000

The Decision, Risk and Management Sciences program supports scientific research directed at increasing the understanding and effectiveness of decision making by individuals, groups, organizations, and society. Disciplinary and interdisciplinary research, doctoral dissertation research, and workshops are funded in the areas of judgment and decision making; decision analysis and decision aids; risk analysis, perception, and communication; societal and public policy decision making; management science and organizational design. The program also supports small grants that are time critical and small grants that are high risk and of a potentially transformative nature (see Grants for Rapid Response Research (RAPID) and EArly concept Grants for Exploratory Research (EAGER)).
9. Science, Technology, and Society

Deadline: February 1, 2012; August 1, 2012

Award Amount: $10,000; $15,000 for international research

STS considers proposals that examine historical, philosophical, and sociological questions that arise in connection with science, engineering, and technology, and their respective interactions with society. STS has four components:
1. Ethics and Values in Science, Engineering and Technology (EVS),
2. History and Philosophy of Science, Engineering and Technology (HPS)
3. Social Studies of Science, Engineering and Technology (SSS),
4. Studies of Policy, Science, Engineering and Technology (SPS).

10. Astronomy and Astrophysics Postdoctoral Fellowships

Deadline: October 10, 2012

Award Amount: 8 – 9 estimated awards; Estimated funding amount: $750,000

Eligibility: NSF Astronomy and Astrophysics Postdoctoral Fellowships are awards to individuals; proposals to be submitted directly by the fellowship candidate to NSF. Each candidate must identify one or more sponsoring scientist(s) and host institution(s) at the time of proposal submission. NSF Astronomy and Astrophysics Postdoctoral Fellowships provide an opportunity for highly qualified, recent doctoral scientists to carry out an integrated program of independent research and education.

Fellows may engage in observational, instrumental, theoretical, laboratory or archival data research in any area of astronomy or astrophysics, in combination with a coherent educational plan for the duration of the fellowship. The program supports researchers for a period of up to three years with fellowships that may be taken to eligible host institution(s) of their choice. The program is intended to recognize early career investigators of significant potential and to provide them with experience in research and education that will establish them in positions of distinction and leadership in the community.

11. Geography and Spatial Sciences

Deadline: February 15, 2012; October 15, 2012

Award Amount: $12,000 for a maximum period of 24 months

The Geography and Spatial Sciences Program sponsors research on the geographic distributions and interactions of human, physical, and biotic systems on the Earth's surface. Investigations are encouraged into the nature, causes, and consequences of human activity and natural environmental processes across a range of scales. Projects on a variety of topics (both domestic and international) qualify for support if they offer promise of contributing to scholarship by enhancing geographical knowledge, concepts, theories, methods, and their application to societal problems and concerns.

GSS encourages projects that explicitly integrate undergraduate and graduate education into the overall research agenda. Proposals submitted for consideration by the Geography and Spatial Sciences Program at NSF tend to be most competitive if the research is grounded in relevant geographical theory, if it focuses on one or a few core questions grounded in the theoretical framework that has been established, if it articulates how scientifically sound methods will be used to explore the validity of answers to the core questions, and if the results are likely to contribute not only specific answers to those specific questions but also to the enhancement of broader geographic and/or spatial scientific theory. The project can draw on and contribute to theory in other fields, too, but to obtain at least some funding from GSS, efforts should be made to enhance fundamental geographic theory, and the investigators should plan to disseminate their results through presentations and publications for geographers and spatial scientists as well as other relevant communities.

12. Sociology

Deadline: February 15, 2012; October 15, 2012

Award Amount: $10,000 for a maximum period of 12 months

The Sociology Program supports basic research on all forms of human social organization societies, institutions, groups and demography and processes of individual and institutional change. The Program encourages theoretically focused empirical investigations aimed at improving the explanation of fundamental social processes. Included is research on organizations and organizational behavior, population dynamics, social movements, social groups, labor force participation, stratification and mobility, family, social networks, socialization, gender roles, and the sociology of science and technology. The Program supports both original data collections and secondary data analysis that use the full range of quantitative and qualitative methodological tools. Theoretically grounded projects that offer methodological innovations and improvements for data collection and analysis are also welcomed. The Sociology Program also funds doctoral dissertation research to defray direct costs associated with conducting research, for example, dataset acquisition, additional statistical or methodological training, meeting with scholars associated with original datasets, and fieldwork away from the student's home campus.

13. Nieman Fellowships for Journalists

Award Amount: The U.S. Fellowships include tuition, a $60,000 stipend and housing and childcare support. Special funding arrangements apply to international fellows.

The Nieman Foundation selects up to 12 United States and 12 international journalists for Nieman Fellowships each year. Nieman Fellowships provide a mid career opportunity for journalists to spend a year of learning and reflection at Harvard. Fellowships are awarded to 12 U.S. journalists and 12 from other countries. The Foundation also awards 2 fellowships in Global Health reporting Fellows design an individual course of study and participate in Nieman seminars. The Nieman Fellowship program is the oldest and best known mid career program for journalists in the world. More than 1,300 journalists from the U.S. and 88 other countries have come to Harvard for a year of learning, exploration and fellowship. Nieman fellows are provided the opportunity to step back from deadlines, renew their intellectual curiosity and enrich their understanding of the topics they cover.

16. Dissertation Fellowship Program (Multiple Fields)

Award Name: Spencer Dissertation Fellowship Program

For study in country: North America

Available to: Unrestricted/Worldwide

Award Amount: $25,000

Submission Deadline: New deadlines will be announced in Summer 2012

The Dissertation Fellowship Program seeks to encourage a new generation of scholars from a wide range of disciplines and professional fields to undertake research relevant to the improvement of education. These $25,000 fellowships support individuals whose dissertations show potential for bringing fresh and constructive perspectives to the history, theory, or practice of formal or informal education anywhere in the world. Although the dissertation topic must concern education, graduate study may be in any academic or professional field. In the past, fellowships have been awarded to candidates in anthropology, architecture, art history, economics, education, history, linguistics, literature, philosophy, political science, psychology, public health, religion and sociology, but eligibility is not restricted to these academic areas. Candidates should be interested in pursuing further research in education once the doctorate is attained.

Award Name: Individual UNESCO Fellowships, Study Grants and Travel Grants

For study in country: Unrestricted/Worldwide

Available to: Unrestricted/Worldwide

Award Amount: Varies

Submission Deadline: Varies

The UNESCO Fellowships Program, through the award and administration of fellowships, study and travel grants, aims to:

- Contribute to the enhancement of human resources and national capacity building in areas that are closely aligned to UNESCO's expected strategic objectives and program priorities and,
- Increase fellowships co-sponsorship arrangements with interested donors

18. NSF Doctoral Dissertation Improvement Grants (SBE)

Award Name: NSF Doctoral Dissertation Improvement Grants

For study in country: US

Available to: Citizens of any country, currently enrolled in a US academic institution

Award Amount: 200 -300 awards totally amounting to $2.5 million

Submission Deadline: Varies

The National Science Foundation awards grants to doctoral students to improve the quality of dissertation research. These grants provide funds for items not normally available through the student’s university. Additionally, these grants allow doctoral students to undertake significant data gathering projects and to conduct field research in settings away from their campus that would not otherwise be possible. Proposals are judged on the basis of their scientific merit, including the theoretical importance of the research question and the appropriateness of the proposed data and methodology to be used in addressing the question.

19. Architecture Traveling Fellowship Program (Architecture and Design)

Award Name: Architecture Traveling Fellowship Program

For study in country: Unrestricted/Worldwide

Available to: Unrestricted/Worldwide

Award Amount: $50,000

Submission Deadline: To be announced

This award is designed to broaden student education, instill a heightened sense of responsibility as future practitioners, to improve the quality of built and natural environments and to encourage appreciation of place making, culture and technology on the design of buildings and their settings. The SOM Prize in architecture, design and urban design is a $50,000 research and travel fellowship that enables one outstanding student to do in depth research, collaborate with other designers, and pursue independent study outside the realm of established pattern. In addition to the grand SOM prize, the Foundation also awards a $20,000 travel fellowship to the second strongest candidate.

31. NSF Graduate Research Fellowship Program

Deadline: November 14- engineering; Nov 15- mathematical sciences, astronomy, physics, chemistry, computer science; Nov 16- social sciences, psychology, geosciences, STEM; Nov 18- Life Sciences

Eligibility: U.S. citizens

Award amount: $40,500 each year for three years

The Graduate Research Fellowship provides three years of support for graduate study leading to research-based master’s or doctoral degrees and is intended for students who are in the early stages of their graduate study. The Graduate Research Fellowship Program (GRFP) invests in graduate education for a cadre of diverse individuals who demonstrate their potential to successfully complete graduate degree programs in disciplines relevant to the mission of the National Science Foundation. Applicants may pursue graduate study at an institution in the United States or affiliate with a foreign institution that grants a graduate degree. All applicants are expected to have adequate preparation to begin graduate level study and research by Summer or Fall of 2010. In most cases, this will be demonstrated by a bachelor’s degree earned prior to Fall 2010.

Please note: Dr. Karen Bradley in the UF Grad School, is the coordinator of NSF Fellowships on the University of Florida’s campus.

32. Postdoctoral Fellowship in Academic Libraries

Deadline: December 19, 2012

Award Amount: Remuneration varies by sponsoring institution; benefits and some travel expenses are also provided. Depending on the institution, fellowships are for either one or two years.

The Council on Library and Information Resources (CLIR) fellowship provides new scholars in the humanities a unique opportunity to develop expertise in the new forms of scholarly research and the information resources that support them, both traditional and digital, that are challenging research institutions. The program offers fellowships to individuals who believe that there are opportunities to develop meaningful linkages among disciplinary scholarship, libraries, archives, and evolving digital tools. Former fellows have high placement rates as researchers and professionals in academic libraries and as members of teaching faculties. Applicants must have earned their Ph.D.s in disciplines in the humanities within the past five years (or earn them before starting the program). All fields in the humanities will be considered.
33. Researching Nantucket’s Historical Library Collection Fellowship

Deadline: December 31, 2012

Award Amount: $900, Travel expenses reimbursed up to $600.

The Nantucket Historical Association (NHA) annual fellowship, the E. Geoffrey and Elizabeth Thayer Verney Fellowship, encourages research in the collections of the Nantucket Historical Association Research Library and is open to academics, graduate students, and independent scholars. The Nantucket Historical Association is the principal repository of Nantucket history, with extensive archives, collections of historic properties, and art and artifacts that broadly illustrate Nantucket's past. Topics of research for recent scholars have included health aboard whale ships, women at sea, scrimshaw, samplers, local artists, Nantucket's architectural heritage, Quakerism, the African-American and Cape Verdean communities, the Quaise Asylum, and abolitionism. The E. Geoffrey and Elizabeth Thayer Verney Fellow resides in the Thomas Macy House, a historic property owned by the association, for up to a three-week period. Housing is available January - May and October - December 2010. NHA Visiting Research Scholars are expected to produce an article suitable for publication in the summer edition of Historic Nantucket, the NHA’s quarterly journal, and to deliver a public lecture on the subject of their research, as well as a presentation to NHA staff. Projects resulting in the publication of a book, article, conference paper, or other media, are looked upon favorably.

34. Rich Diversity of Human Culture Book Awards

Deadline: December 31, 2012

Award Amount: $10,000

The Cleveland Foundation’s Anisfield-Wolf Book Awards recognizes books that have made important contributions to our understanding of racism and our appreciation of the rich diversity of human cultures. Books that open and challenge peoples minds are requested. Past winners have presented the extraordinary art and culture of peoples around the world, explored human rights violations, exposed the effects of racism on children, reflected on growing up bi-racial and illuminated the dignity of people as they search for justice. To be eligible, books must be written in English and published in the previous year. Awards are given for both fiction and non-fiction, with winners being announced in the spring. Works of poetry are eligible for the fiction prize. All submitted materials become the property of the Anisfield-Wolf Book Awards and will not be returned. Click here to view previous winners.

35. The International Scholar Rescue Fund

Deadline: January 1, 2012, April 1, 2012 and October 1, 2012

Award Amount: up to US $25,000, plus health insurance

The Institute of International Education announces its Scholar Rescue Fund program. Professors, established researchers and other senior academics from any country, field or discipline may qualify. Applications are reviewed for academic qualifications, the quality/potential of the candidate's work, and the urgency of threats faced. Preference is given to scholars:
- who are facing immediate, severe and targeted threats to their lives and/or careers in their home country or country of residence;
- with a Ph.D. or other highest degree in their field who have extensive teaching or research experience at a university, college or other institution of higher learning;
- who demonstrate superior academic accomplishment or promise;
- whose selection is likely to benefit the academic community in the home and/or host country or region.

Applications from female scholars and scholars who are members of ethnic, racial, cultural or religious minority groups, or those otherwise underrepresented in their field, are encouraged. Fellowships are approved by the SRF Selection Committee which convenes at least three (3) times per year. The final fellowship award is dependent upon the location of the host institution, the cost of living, and the value of any additional contributions from the host institution or other source. Host academic institutions agree to accept the fellowship funds and disburse the funds to the scholar. In most cases, host institutions are required to match the SRF fellowship award through partial salary/stipend support, research materials, and other in-kind assistance.

36. West African Pre-Doctoral Fellowships

Deadline: February 1, 2013
Award Amount: Round trip travel to Africa and $3,500.

The West African Research Center invites applications from graduate students for the WARA Pre-Doctoral Fellowship, for research in West Africa during the summer of 2012. Awardees will conduct research for a two to three month period in order to 1) prepare a doctoral research proposal; or 2) carry out research related to the completion of another terminal degree program (e.g. MFA or MPH). Funded through the bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the U.S. State Department, this competition is open to U.S. citizens who are currently enrolled in graduate programs at institutions of higher education in the United States. It is advisable that applicants be conversant in an African language spoken where they will be conducting research. Priority will be given to applicants who are at the predissertation stage, that is, who will be returning to their institution to complete course work, exams, etc. before beginning their fieldwork.

38. Neuroscience Research Award

Deadline: January 3, 2012
Award Amount: $75,000 annually for three years

The McKnight Endowment Fund for Neuroscience supports innovative research designed to bring science closer to the day when diseases of the brain and behavior can be accurately diagnosed, prevented, and treated. The McKnight Scholar Award program gives promising young investigators in the early stages of an independent research career the opportunity for scientific development on important problems in brain science. Traditionally, successful candidates have held faculty positions for at least one year. Applicants must have the following:

- M.D. and/or Ph.D. degree; formal postdoctoral training completed at the time of application.
- A record of meritorious research in areas pertinent to the interests of the Endowment Fund.
- Not more than four years of experience in an independent/tenure track faculty position (exceptions may be made to account for parental leave).
- Evidence of a commitment to a career in neuroscience.
- U.S. citizenship or lawful permanent resident status.
- U.S.-based sponsoring institution, to which awards will be paid.

Award Amount: The stipend amount is $40,000 per year, plus a $3,000 travel allowance and a $2,000 contribution to health insurance.

The Metropolitan Museum of Art seeks qualified applicants for the position of Research Scholar in photograph conservation. The Research Scholar will have a two-year term with the possibility of renewal for a third year and will work on site in the photograph conservation lab of the Metropolitan's Sherman Fairchild Center for Works on Paper and Photograph Conservation. The Research Scholar will report to the Sherman Fairchild Conservator of Photographs, who in turn reports to the Curator in Charge of the Department of Photographs.

41. Brain Tumor Research Fellowships

Deadline: January 7, 2012

Award Amount: Research Fellowships $80,000 over two years; Translational Research $75,000 for one year.

The American Brain Tumor Association is accepting applications for its 2012 Basic Research Fellowship and Translational Research Grant programs. ABTA Basic Research Fellowships are two-year training awards that support the salaries of young researchers entering the field of brain tumor research. Often the first award of a researcher's career, the fellowship provides the opportunity for young, bright, and motivated investigators to learn from mentors.

Fellowship Eligibility: MD must be within two years or residency completion or within five years post residency training as of July 1, 2012. OR: PhDs will have their doctorate by January 1, 2012 and will have no more than five years post-doctoral laboratory experience by July 1, 2012. If candidate has multiple post-doctoral degrees, the last conferred postdoctoral degree will be used to determine eligibility.

42. Researching Epilepsy Fellowship

Deadline: January 10, 2013

Award Amount: $150,000

The Esther A. & Joseph Klingenstein Fund supports, in the early stages of their careers, young investigators engaged in basic or clinical research that may lead to a better understanding of epilepsy. The Klingenstein Fund recognizes that to accomplish this goal it is necessary to encourage a variety of new approaches. Several areas within the neurosciences are of particular interest to the Fund:
- Cellular and molecular neuroscience—Studies of the mechanisms of neuronal excitability and development, and of the genetic basis of seizure disorders.
- Neural systems—Studies of the integrative function of the nervous system.
- Clinical research—Studies designed to improve the prevention, diagnosis, treatment and our understanding of the causes of epilepsy.

To qualify for an award investigators must hold the Ph.D. and/or M.D. degrees, and have completed all research training, including postdoctoral training.
1. U.S. citizenship is not a requirement, but it is expected that candidates will be permanent residents of the U.S. and that their research will be carried out in U.S. institutions.
2. Holding an award from another foundation concurrently with a Klingenstein award requires the approval of the Advisory Committee.
3. The candidate should be an independent investigator, holding a tenure track academic rank (but not yet tenured) in a university or medical school, or the equivalent standing in a research institute or medical center.

43. Long Term Research in Environmental Biology

Deadline: January 9, 2013; July 09, 2012

Award Amount: $90,000 per year (direct and indirect costs) and $450,000 over a 5-year (60 month) effort

The National Science Foundation’s Long Term Research in Environmental Biology (LTREB) encourages the submission of proposals aimed at generating extended time series of biological and environmental data that address ecological and evolutionary processes aimed at resolving important issues in environmental biology. Researchers must have collected at least six years of previous data to qualify for funding. The proposal also must present a cohesive conceptual rationale or framework for ten years of research. Questions or hypotheses outlined in this conceptual framework must guide an initial 5-year proposal as well as a subsequent, abbreviated renewal. Together, these will constitute a decadal research plan appropriate to begin to address critical and novel long-term questions in environmental biology. As part of the requirements for funding, projects must show how collected data will be shared broadly with the scientific community and the interested public. NSF welcomes proposals on behalf of all qualified scientists, engineers and educators. The Foundation strongly encourages women, minorities and persons with disabilities to participate fully in its programs.

44. The Everyday and the Ordinary Fellowship

Deadline: January 8, 2013

Award Amount: $45,000

The Rutgers University Center for Cultural Analysis (CCA), an interdisciplinary research center, announces a competition for visiting postdoctoral fellowships for 2010-2011. For its 2011-12 program, the Center for Cultural Analysis invites research proposals on 6 topics related to the everyday and the ordinary. A longstanding interest of many disciplines, including history, art history, anthropology, sociology and philosophy, as well as literary and cultural studies, the everyday and the ordinary have enjoyed a conceptual resurgence in recent years. All fellows will have access to the Center’s resources during the tenure of the fellowship and will be expected to participate in and to present their work to the Center seminars, which meet regularly throughout the academic year.

45. Life Science Research Fellowship

Deadline: January 15, 2013

Award Amount: $30,000 to $75,000

The Whitehall Foundation, through its program of grants and grants-in-aid, assists scholarly research in the life sciences. The Foundation emphasizes the support of young scientists at the beginning of their careers and productive senior scientists who wish to move into new fields of interest. Consideration is given, however, to applicants of all ages. The chief criteria for support are the quality and creativity of the research as well as the commitment of the Principal Investigator (a minimum time allocation of 20% is required). Research grants are available to established scientists of all ages working at accredited institutions in the United States.
Applications will be judged on the scientific merit and the innovative aspects of the proposal as well as on the competence of the applicant. Research grants of up to three years will be provided. A renewal grant with a maximum of two years is possible, but it will be awarded on a competitive basis.

46. Fellowships for Advanced Creative or Scholarly Projects in the Arts and Humanities

Deadline: January 15, 2013

Award Amount: Room and Board for one month stay.

Located on the Italian Riviera in the village of Bogliasco, the Liguria Study Center provides residential fellowships for qualified persons working on advanced creative or scholarly projects in the arts and humanities. Bogliasco Fellowships are granted to qualified persons doing advanced creative work or scholarly research in the following disciplines: archaeology, architecture/landscape architecture, classics, dance, film/video, history, literature, music, philosophy, theater, and the visual arts. In the arts, the Study Center welcomes persons doing both creative and scholarly work (such as art history, musicology, film criticism, and so on). With respect to dance, music, and theater, however, the Center does not have rehearsal studio space for persons wishing to work extensively in performance. Applicants for Fellowships are expected to demonstrate significant achievement in their disciplines, commensurate with their age and experience. In addition, they must submit descriptions of the projects that they intend to pursue in Bogliasco. An approved project is presumed to lead to the completion of an artistic, literary, or scholarly work, followed by publication, performance, exhibition, or other public presentation.

47. Fellowship in French Studies for Unmarried Women

Deadline: January 15, 2013

Award Amount: $20,000

The annual Mary Isabel Sibley Fellowship is awarded alternately in the fields of Greek and French. The award may be used for the study of Greek language, literature, history, or archaeology, or the study of French language or literature. Candidates must be unmarried.
women 25 to 35 years of age who have demonstrated their ability to carry on original research. They must hold a doctorate or have fulfilled all the requirements for a doctorate except the dissertation, and they must be planning to devote full-time work to research during the fellowship year. The award is not restricted to members of Phi Beta Kappa or to U.S. citizens.

48. Artslink- Creating New Work That Draws Inspiration From Interaction With Artists and the Community

Deadline: January 13, 2013

Award Amount: $2,500-$10,000

ArtsLink Projects provides support to U.S. artists, curators, presenters, and arts organizations undertaking projects in Central Europe, Russia, Central Asia, and the Caucasus. Applicants must be working with an artist or organization in that region and projects should be designed to benefit participants and audiences in both the USA and the host country. Support is provided to create new work that draws inspiration from interaction with artists and the community in the USA; to establish mutually beneficial exchange of ideas and expertise between artists, arts organizations and the local community and to pursue artistic cooperation that will enrich creative or professional development or has potential to expand the community's access to the art of other cultures. Applications will be accepted from individual artists, curators, and nonprofit arts organizations working in dance, music, literature, and theater.

49. Dissertation Fellowship in African and African Diaspora Studies

Deadline: February 3, 2013

Award Amount: $30,060 stipend, health insurance, a $1,500 research budget

Boston College's (BC's) African and African Diaspora Studies Program (AADS) is proud to announce the inaugural year of its dissertation fellowship competition. The fellowship will support a scholar with a project focusing on any topic within African and/or African diaspora studies. The fellow must remain in residence for the nine-month academic year, deliver one public lecture, and teach one seminar course. The successful applicant will have full access to BC's seven libraries as well as several rare books and manuscripts collections. Of particular interest is the Nicholas M. Williams/Caribbeana Collection, consisting of materials from and about Africa, Jamaica, and the British West Indies. The fellow can also benefit from BC’s newly founded Institute for the Liberal Arts, as well as events sponsored by programs/installations in International Studies, American Studies, Asian American Studies, Middle East Studies, Islamic Civilization and Societies, as well as the internationally renowned McMullen Museum. Boston College is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer dedicated to building a culturally diverse faculty and a multicultural environment. We strongly encourage applications from women, individuals from historically underrepresented groups and individuals with disabilities, and covered veterans. Eligible applicants must complete all requirements for the PhD, aside from the dissertation, by the start of the fellowship year.

50. Dissertation Proposal Development Fellowship (DPDF) is designed to help early-stage graduate students in the humanities

Deadline: January 27, 2013

Award Amount: up to $5,000

The Dissertation Proposal Development Fellowship (DPDF) is designed to help early-stage graduate students in the humanities and social sciences formulate more effective doctoral dissertation proposals.

Senior tenured faculty serve as research directors who identify research fields for groups of 12 graduate students. The faculty research directors design two workshops: one to prepare students to undertake summer research that will inform the design of their dissertation proposal, held in spring; the other to help students apply their summer research experiences to writing dissertation and funding proposals, held in the fall. Working together, research directors and graduate students help shape emerging fields in the humanities and social sciences. Students apply to one of five research fields and are required to attend and participate in both sets of workshops. Applicants may apply for summer funding but must also apply for summer financial support from their home institutions or extramural support. The DPDF program is open to second-and third year graduate students in all disciplines of the social sciences and humanities who are currently enrolled full time in Ph.D. programs at accredited universities in the United States. First and fourth year students may, under exceptional circumstances, be eligible.

Students in the humanities and social sciences undertaking doctoral dissertation research may apply for one of the five annual research fields named. The program is designed for second and third year PhD students, enrolled in U.S. institutions, who have not yet submitted and will not submit their dissertation proposals until after the fall workshop. Students who have completed their comprehensive /general qualifying exams are eligible as long as they have not had their dissertation proposal formally approved by their department before the fall workshop.

51. Cuban Music Composition and Visual Arts Fellowships

Deadline: August 1, 2012

Award Amount: $10,000

The Cintas Foundation has announced the opening of the 2012-13 fellowship competitions in the visual arts and music composition. The Cintas Fellowship Program is administered by the Cintas Foundation board and the Cintas Fellowship Program at the Frost Art Museum at Florida International University. Cintas Fellowships acknowledge creative accomplishments and encourage excellence by artists of Cuban lineage who reside outside of Cuba. Eligibility is limited to artists of Cuban citizenship or direct descent (having a Cuban parent or grandparent). The Cintas Fellowship Program encourages creative development in architecture, literature, music composition and the visual arts.

52. North American Christianity Dissertation Fellowship Program

Deadline: February 1, 2013

Award Amount: $19,000

The Louisville Institute's Dissertation Fellowship program is designed to support the final year Ph.D. or Th.D. dissertation writing for students engaged in research pertaining to North American Christianity, especially projects related to Christian faith and life, religious institutions, and pastoral leadership. Applicants must be candidates for the Ph.D. or Th.D. degree who have fulfilled all pre-dissertation requirements, including approval of the dissertation proposal, by February 1 of the award year and expect to complete the dissertation by the end of the following academic year. The Fellowships are intended to support the final year of dissertation writing. Eligible proposals should promise a significant contribution to the study of American religion. Preference will be given to proposals that attempt: 1) to describe more fully how the Christian faith is actually lived by contemporary persons and to bring the resources of the Christian faith into closer relation to their daily lives 2) to help us understand more adequately the institutional reconfiguration of American religion, or 3) to explore the nature and challenge of pastoral leadership, with special attention to the conditions of contemporary Christian ministry in North America and the character of pastoral excellence. Proposals on certain other issues of importance to the churches are also welcome. Proposed projects may employ a variety of methodological perspectives, including, but not limited to, history, ethics, the social sciences, biblical studies, and historical, systematic, and practical theology. They may also be interdisciplinary in nature. In all its grant making, including the Dissertation Fellowship program, the Louisville Institute is interested in funding projects that contribute in significant ways to our understanding of contemporary religious communities. Consequently, very few dissertation projects funded in recent years have dealt with American religion prior to the mid-nineteenth century.

53. Pakistan Research Fellowships

Deadline: January 1, 2013

Award Amount: $3,000-$25,000

The American Institute of Pakistan Studies at the University of Wisconsin encourages and supports research on issues relevant to Pakistan and the promotion of scholarly exchange between the United States and Pakistan. To fulfill this mission, AIPS provides research fellowships to American researchers, administers lectureships, and sponsors academic conferences. Applications are invited for research fellowships at the pre or postdoctoral level for projects lasting two to nine months. Applications are invited for research fellowships at the pre- or post-doctoral level for projects lasting two to nine months. Awards will include international travel expenses and stipends (subject to availability of funds). The amount of the stipends will be comparable to Fulbright Awards and will be determined by the Fellowships Committee based on availability of funds and current rates as defined by the U S State Department. Applicants must be U.S. citizens or enrolled/employed full-time in an institution of higher education in the USA. Predoctoral applicants should have completed all requirements for the PhD except the dissertation.

54. Predoctoral Fellowships for Historians of American Art

Deadline: November 15, 2012
Award Amount: $4,500

The Center for Advanced Study in the Visual Arts at the National Gallery of Art offers up to six fellowships to doctoral students in art history who are studying aspects of art and architecture in the United States, including native and pre-Revolutionary America. The fellowship is for a period of six to eight weeks of continuous travel abroad in areas such as Africa, Asia, South America, and Europe, as well as to sites of historical and 11 cultural interest, including museums, exhibitions, collections, and monuments. The travel fellowship is intended to encourage a breadth of art-historical experience beyond the candidate's major field and is not intended for the advancement of a dissertation. Preference will be accorded to those who have had little opportunity for research travel abroad.

55. Newberry Library Long-Term Fellowships

Deadline: December 12, 2012

Award Amount: $4,200 per month

The Newberry Library is an independent research library concentrating in the humanities. It houses a non-circulating collection of rarebooks, maps, and manuscripts. The library's holdings span the history and culture of Western Europe from the middle Ages to the mid-twentieth century and the Americas from the time of first contact between Europeans and Native Americans. Its strengths include European discovery, exploration, and settlement of the Americas; the American West; local history, family history, and genealogy; literature and history of the Midwest, especially the Chicago Renaissance; Native American history and literature; the Renaissance; the French Revolution; Portuguese and Brazilian history; British literature and history; the history of cartography; the history and theory of music; the history of printing; and early philology and linguistics. The collections number 1,500,000 printed titles, five million manuscript pages, and 300,000 historic maps. The National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowships are for established scholars to support projects in any field appropriate to the library's collections. history, and genealogy; literature and history of the Midwest, especially the Chicago Renaissance; Native American history and literature; the Renaissance; the French Revolution; Portuguese and Brazilian history; British literature and history; the history of cartography; the history and theory of music; the history of printing; and early philology and linguistics. 56. Researching the Arctic

Deadline: October 18, 2012
Award Amount: $400,000

The National Science Foundation invites investigators at U.S. organizations to submit proposals to conduct research about the Arctic. Arctic research includes field and modeling studies and data analysis in and about the arctic region. Proposals may only be submitted by the U.S. Organizations. Proposals should discuss how their results would contribute to an understanding of the arctic environment. Thus, while it is perfectly acceptable to propose a study of a relatively narrow disciplinary scope, an effort should also be made to explain how one would transfer the results to broader areas of research. Thus, the Arctic Sciences Division encourages proposals that focus on arctic phenomena and provide hypothesis-driven tests to produce the understanding needed to develop predictive tools based on first principles. Proposals to perform long term observations are best submitted to the Arctic Observing Network Program (AON). Similarly, proposals that treat generic processes that could be studied outside the Arctic are more appropriate to other programs within the Foundation. Proposers are encouraged to contact a program director if they have questions about the fit of a given research topic.

57. Latino History, Art, and Culture Fellowships

Deadline: January 15, 2013
Award Amount: $30,000(pre-doctoral) and $45,000(post-doctoral)

The Smithsonian Institute’s Latino Studies Fellowship Program offers awards to US Latino/a predoctoral students and postdoctoral or senior scholars to pursue research related to Latino history, art, and culture using Smithsonian resources. Fellowship appointments are for up to twelve months with the opportunity to spend up to a third of the time in the field but not at the home institution.

61. Radiologic Sciences Research Seed Project

Deadline: January 16, 2013

Award Amount: up to $40,000

The Radiological Society of North America’s Research and Education Foundation’s seed grant will enable all levels of investigators throughout the world in defining objectives and testing hypotheses in preparation of major grant applications to corporations, foundations, and governmental agencies. The seed data from these projects will indicate feasibility and appropriateness of the research prior to applying for funds from other agencies. Nature of Projects:

- Any area of research related to the radiologic sciences.
- This grant mechanism will be open to all levels of radiologic investigators, with an established academic appointment.
- Applications should describe the unique nature of the research effort independent of existing research efforts.

Greater emphasis will be placed on the likelihood of this research to attract future funding given the nature and extent of the preliminary data collected within the cycle of the grant.

Projects focused on advancing imaging science, developing or evaluating medical imaging technology, or making innovative use of imaging science to answer important biologic or clinical questions are encouraged.

62. Summer Residency in France for Artists and Scholars

Deadline: January 15, 2013

Award Amount: Terra Summer Residency fellows are awarded a stipend of $5,000 and artists receive an additional $200 for the purchase of materials.

The Terra Foundation for American Art offers ten summer fellowships to artists and scholars from the United States and Europe. These fellowships are awarded to artists who have completed their studies at the Master’s level and to doctoral students engaged in research on American art (from the eighteenth century to the 1980s). During their eight week stay, senior artists and art historians are in residence to mentor fellows and pursue their own work. Each Terra Summer Residency Fellow is provided with lodging and study or studio space, daily lunches, and a program consisting of independent study, meetings, and seminar. Applicants must be nominated by a professor at an academic institution. Such nominees must fall within one of the two following categories: American and European doctoral candidates researching a subject that contains a significant American art component, or that examines artistic exchange between America and Europe. Candidates should be at an advanced stage of their doctoral research and writing. American and European artists who have completed a Master’s program (or its equivalent) in mixed media and/or painting. Preference is given to applicants who completed a Master’s program within the past five years. All applicants are expected to be fluent in English. Knowledge of French is desirable, but not required.

63. Humanities Long Term Fellowships

Deadline: January 15, 2013

Award Amount: $42,000 per year

The American Antiquarian Society/National Endowment for the Humanities offers Long Term Visiting Academic Research Fellowships for persons who have already completed their formal professional training. Degree candidates and persons seeking support for work in pursuit of a degree may not hold AAS-NEH fellowships. These residencies in Worcester provide an opportunity not only for research in collections that are extraordinarily deep but also for collegial discussion with staff and other fellows, faculty in area colleges and universities, and other scholars visiting AAS from all over the United States and abroad. Hundreds of books and articles, some of them winners of major prizes, including the Pulitzer and Bancroft, have stemmed from AAS fellowships. Foreign nationals who have been residents in the United States for at least three years immediately preceding the application deadline for the fellowship are eligible. Preference will be given to individuals who have not held long-term fellowships during the three years preceding the period for which the application is being made.
64. Social, Behavioral and Economic Sciences Doctoral Dissertation Research Improvement Programs

Deadline: None

Award Amount: $20,000

The National Science Foundation's Division of Social and Economic Sciences and Division of Behavioral and Cognitive Sciences award grants to doctoral students to improve the quality of dissertation research. These grants provide funds for items not normally available through the student's university. Additionally, these grants allow doctoral students to undertake significant data-gathering projects and to conduct field and archival research in settings away from their campus that would not otherwise be possible. Funds may be used for valid research expenses which include, but are not limited to, conducting field research in settings away from campus that would not otherwise be possible, data collection and sample survey costs, payments to subjects or informants, specialized research equipment, analysis and services not otherwise available, supplies, travel to archives, travel to specialized collections and facilities or field research locations, and partial living expenses for conducting necessary research away from the student's university. The proposal must be submitted through regular university channels by the dissertation advisor(s) on behalf of the graduate student who is at the point of initiating or already conducting dissertation research. The student must be enrolled at a U.S. institution, but need not be a U.S. citizen. Proposals from women, minorities, and persons with disabilities are strongly encouraged.

The NSF Archeology Program constitutes part of a larger Anthropological and Geographical and Regional Sciences cluster and its focus is limited to research of clear anthropological significance. In a proposal the students should describe why their research is important from an anthropological perspective.

65. Political Science

Deadline: January 15, 2013, September 16, 2012
Outstanding proposals specify how the knowledge to be created advances our theoretical understanding of the study situation, so that people interested in similar situations in different contexts will learn from the project's outcome. The key is to be explicit in showing how the general theory explains the local situation, and in showing how the new knowledge from the local situation will advance the theory.

http://www.nsf.gov/sbe/ses/polisci/ddrip1.jsp

66. Linguistics

Award Amount: $12,000

An outstanding dissertation proposal will clearly specify the leading research questions and hypotheses, the data relevant to answering those research questions, the theoretical framework being used and the methods of analysis. It will provide a brief literature review and a clear work plan. It will also address the NSF review criterion of broader impacts.

http://www.nsf.gov/sbe/bcs/ling/suppdiss.jsp

67. Cultural Anthropology

Deadline: January 15, 2013; August 15, 2012

Award Amount: $20,000

The panel reviews 50-150 proposals each meeting, and usually ranks less than 20% in the” must fund" category. While the proposals span the breadth of diversity in cultural anthropology, the top-ranked proposals share some strengths which more proposals could display. On the most general level, the panel notes that projects that advance our theoretical understanding are more scientifically meritorious than descriptive projects which add a case study of some (albeit fascinating and topical) situation. Outstanding proposals specify how the knowledge to be created advances our theoretical understanding of the study situation, so that people interested in similar situations in different contexts will learn from the project's outcome. The key is to be explicit in showing how the general theory explains the local situation, and in showing how the new knowledge from the local situation will advance the theory.

68. Law and Social Science

Deadline: January 15, 2013; August 15, 2012

Award Amount: $6,000-$15,000
Outstanding proposals specify how the knowledge to be created advances our theoretical understanding of the study situation, so that people interested in similar situations in different contexts will learn from the project's outcome. 69. Research on Science and Technology Surveys and Statistics

Deadline: January 15, 2013

Award Amount: $12,000

The Division of Science Resources Statistics (SRS) funds doctoral dissertation research on science, engineering, technology, and innovation (S&T) issues and policies that affect the U.S. in its international setting. It supports high quality doctoral research that may lead to (1) improved survey methodologies to generate S&T data, (2) creation or improvement of S&T indicators reflecting science, research and development, innovation activities, engineering, technology, or the science and engineering workforce, (3) strengthening of methodologies to analyze statistical S&T data, or (4) development of novel means to convey the information in these data to a variety of audiences. SRS encourages proposals that analyze SRS S&T data or SRS data in conjunction with relevant data from other sources, but also accepts proposals to analyze data from non-SRS sources alone, including international data.

http://www.nsf.gov/sbe/ddig_srs.jsp

70. Methodology, Measurement, and Statistics

Deadline: January 16, 2013; August 16, 2012

Award Amount: $12,000
The Methodology, Measurement, and Statistics (MMS) Program is an interdisciplinary program in the Social, Behavioral, and Economic Sciences that supports the development of innovative analytical and statistical methods and models for those sciences. MMS seeks proposals that are methodologically innovative, grounded in theory, and have potential utility for multiple fields within the social and behavioral sciences. As part of its larger portfolio, the MMS Program partners with a consortium of federal statistical agencies to support research proposals that further the development of new and innovative approaches to surveys and to the analysis of survey data.

71. Biomedical Engineering Fellows and Scholars Program

Deadline: April 2, 2013

Award Amount: Round trip international airfare. A monthly living stipend, Health & Accident insurance; Fellows Only: Tuition allowance up to a maximum amount (to be determined by program administrators, typically no greater than $25,000)

The Whitaker International Fellows and Scholars Program sends emerging leaders in U.S. biomedical engineering (or bioengineering) to undertake a self-designed project that will enhance their own careers within the field. The Program consists of two branches: Whitaker Fellows and Whitaker Scholars. Whitaker Fellows are biomedical engineers (or bioengineers, which is considered synonymous) ranging from graduating seniors to those conducting doctoral studies. Fellows should have a BS or MS degree in biomedical engineering. Whitaker Scholars are biomedical engineers who have/will have a PhD by the beginning date of their awards. Applicants are eligible ONLY for one or the other (depending on their academic level. 79. Social Entrepreneurship Awards

Deadline: March 1, 2013

Award Amount: $1,000,000

The Skoll Foundation’s Awards for Social Entrepreneurship support social entrepreneurs whose work has the potential for large-scale influence on critical challenges of our time: tolerance and human rights, health, economic and social equity, peace and security, institutional responsibility, and environmental sustainability. These issues are at the heart of the foundation’s vision of empowering people to create a peaceful, prosperous, sustainable world. Within these issues, they are particularly interested in applications from social entrepreneurs working in five critical sub-issue areas that threaten the survival of humanity – climate change, nuclear proliferation, pandemics, conflict in the Middle East and water scarcity.

80. Horticulture Fellowship

Deadline: Varies

Award Amount: $360/week for undergraduates and $420/week for graduates

The Smithsonian Institution’s Horticulture Services Division (HSD) invites applications for research fellowships in the field of horticulture. Fellowships support full-time independent, thesis and dissertation research based at HSD's office in Washington, D.C. The Enid A. Haupt Fellowship in Horticulture was made possible by a generous endowment from philanthropist Enid Annenberg Haupt who, during her lifetime, passionately supported the creation of public gardens and preservation of horticultural institutions. In that same spirit, the Smithsonian Institution’s Horticulture Services Division offers the Haupt Fellowship to encourage the study of, and professions in, the field of horticulture in its broadest sense. Applicants must be enrolled in a graduate program seeking (or have received) their Master’s or Ph.D. in horticulture, landscape architecture, cultural studies, or a related discipline with concentrations in garden history or landscape studies. Applicants whose native language is not English are expected to have the ability to write and converse fluently in English. Applicants must be U.S. citizens or residents for three years prior to application.

86. Grinter Fellowship

Graduate School fellowships are named in honor of Dr. Linton E. Grinter, who was Dean of the Graduate School, 1952-1969. Each year $785,000 is awarded to students in the form of Grinter Fellowships. The intent of the Grinter Fellowship is to facilitate the recruitment of truly exceptional graduate students to the University of Florida. Currently enrolled UF graduate students are not eligible, except in the particular case in which they will be entering a PhD (or other terminal degree) program for the first time.

Ordinarily, the Grinter is limited to Ph.D. students. Exceptions are made for those areas in the University that have a terminal degree different from the Ph.D. (e.g., Master of Fine Arts, Architecture, Building Construction, and Landscape Architecture). Grinter Fellowships are not assistantships. No duties may be required of the student (except those duties associated with an assistantship held concurrently). Grinter Fellowship stipends are normally in the $2,000-$4,000 range and are paid on a bi-weekly basis. Continuation of the Grinter beyond the first year (up to a total of three years) is contingent upon satisfactory student progress. An annual report is made to the Graduate School in this regard for each student.

Note: Students enrolled in the Colleges of Engineering and Law are not eligible for Grinter Fellowships.

87. ACLS Collaborative Research Fellowships

Deadline: September 28, 2012

Award Amount: Award: Amount will depend on the number of collaborators, their academic rank, and the duration of the research leaves but will not exceed $140,000 for any one project.

Tenure: up to a total tenure period of 24 months, to be initiated between July 1, 2012 and September 1, 2014

The aim of this fellowship program is to offer small teams of two or more scholars the opportunity to collaborate intensively on a single, substantive project. The fellowship supports projects that aim to produce a tangible research product (such as joint print or web publications) for which two or more collaborators will take credit.

A collaborative project is constituted of at least two scholars who are each seeking salary-replacement stipends for six to twelve continuous months of supported research leave to pursue full-time collaborative research during the fellowship tenure.

88. Franklin Research Grants

Deadline: October 1, 2012

Award amount: Funding is offered up to a maximum of $6000; grants are not retroactive.

The Franklin program is designed to help meet the costs of travel to libraries and archives for research purposes, the purpose of microfilm, photocopies or equivalent research materials, the costs associated with fieldwork, or laboratory research expenses. They are not intended to meet the expenses of attending conferences or the costs of publication.

89. External Faculty- Stanford Humanities Center

Deadline: To Be Announced

Award amount: Fellows are awarded stipends of up to $60,000 and a housing and moving allowance of up to $15,000. Applicants who require additional support are expected to seek supplementary funding in the form of external grants or sabbatical or other contributions from home institutions.

The Center is unable to provide or finance medical insurance. Fellows are required to make individual arrangements for reasonable coverage during their fellowship year.

Eligibility: External fellowships are intended primarily for individuals currently teaching in or affiliated with an academic institution, but independent scholars may apply. Faculty fellowships are awarded across the spectrum of academic ranks (assistant, associate, and full professor) and a goal of the selection process is to create a diverse community of scholars. Applicants who are members of traditionally under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. There are no citizenship requirements for these fellowships; non-U.S. nationals are welcome to apply. Awards are made from an applicant pool of approximately 250.

90. NEH Fellowships

Deadline: May 1, 2013

Award amount: Fellowships cover periods lasting from six to twelve months at a stipend of $4,200 per month in outright funds. The maximum stipend is $50,400 for a twelve-month period. Applicants should request award periods that suit their schedules and the needs of their projects. Requesting an award period shorter than twelve months will not improve an applicant’s chances of receiving a fellowship.

91. Gubernatorial Fellows Program

Deadline: March 2, 2013

Award Amount: Fellows work a minimum of 20 hours per week and are paid for their time on the job, while maintaining full-time status in their academic programs. This is an outstanding opportunity for students interested in public service and in most cases, Fellows receive free tuition throughout the academic year.

Eligibility: The Gubernatorial Fellows Program offers an unparalleled experience in leadership and public service to Florida’s best and brightest college and university students. This nonpartisan program provides students interested in public service with the opportunity to gain experience and exposure by working in key areas of government. Fellows travel to Tallahassee for two semesters and are assigned to work in the Executive Office of the Governor or the Governor’s agencies, based on their major or area of concentration. To qualify for the program, applicants must be enrolled as full-time graduate students or undergraduates (seniors or juniors) at a four-year, accredited public or private university in Florida. The program is open to students from all academic backgrounds.

94. International Collaborative Research Grants

Deadline: Dec 1, 2012

Award Amount: $30,000

Eligibility: The International Collaborative Research Grant (ICRG) supports international research collaborations between two or more qualified scholars, where the principal investigators bring different and complementary perspectives, knowledge, and/or skills to the project. Proposals must involve collaboration between two or more researchers of different nationalities who are working in different countries. Each researcher must hold a doctorate or equivalent qualification in anthropology or a related discipline. Scholars are eligible without regard to institutional or departmental affiliation. Funding is to support the collaboration of scholars for the purpose of conducting an academic research project. The maximum amount available for research purposes is $30,000. Applications seeking funding primarily for other purposes, such as education, writing, or filmmaking are not eligible under this program. However, some of these activities may be supported if they are necessary and integral for the research.
